

Are you interested in a career in natural resources, love plants, and want to work for the Navajo Nation?

Come work for the Navajo Fish and Wildlife Natural Heritage Program!

Navajo Native Plants Internship

Start/End Date: November 1st 2017-August 31st 2018

Salary: $12/hour and per diem reimbursement for travel

Location: Flagstaff, AZ

- Engage with Navajo community members and agencies about native growing plants.
- Complete a 15 week assistantship learning horticulture, ethnobotany, and outreach at the Arboretum at Flagstaff.
- Complete a Wilderness First Aid course and Seeds of Success Training in Boise, ID
- Assist the NNHP botanist with rare plant monitoring, seed collection, plant identification, and herbarium curation.

Looking for an applicant with:

- A bachelor's degree or some college coursework in botany, biology, horticulture, ecology, environmental sciences, wildlife, indigenous studies, or related field.
- Interest in studying, identifying, and growing native plants of the Navajo Nation.
- Strong communication and writing skills.

To apply: Visit <https://www.nndfw.org/> for a detailed position description. Submit resume, two references, and unofficial transcripts to Nora Talkington (ntalkington@nndfw.org). Position open until filled.

THE NAVAJO NATION GIVES PREFERENCE TO ELIGIBLE AND QUALIFIED APPLICANTS IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE NAVAJO PREFERENCE IN EMPLOYMENT ACT AND VETERANS' PREFERENCE.